True Friendship Patty McAlister

Last week, I wrote about friendship being important to us. Whether it is of God, or family and friends, “If God is all you have, you have all you need.” If you truly love God, all of these other things will work out for the best. Romans 8:28 says, “And we know that all things work together for good to those who love God, to them who are called according to His purpose.” The operative word here is love. For these things to work out, we must love and obey Him. That’s what He requires of us.

Some people may not have many friends because they are shy. It is hard for them to be outgoing, so they may appear conceited. If you are shy, just remember that there are many folks out there who are outgoing and love to talk! Be a good listener and you will fit right in.

Friendship requires loyalty and commitment. You can’t be a fair-weather friend! In order to have true friendship with others, you need to be there through the thick and thin, and the ups and downs. Being there for each other makes long friendships.

There will be problems in friendships just as there are in families. There must be understanding and forgiveness. We want forgiveness from God, so He expects us to forgive others. In fact, He commands it!

Matthew 6:14-15 says, "For if you forgive men their trespasses, your heavenly father will forgive you also. But if you do not forgive men their trespasses, neither will your Father forgive your trespasses." This seems mighty clear to me!

We need friends for our well-being. Besides, it is a joy to have friends! "A man who has friends must himself be friendly, but there is a friend who sticks closer than a brother." (Proverbs 18:24) Friends are a blessing from God. Cherish them!

Happy Father's Day!

"Hear, my children, the instruction of a father, and give attention to know understanding; for I give you good doctrine: do not forsake my law. When I was my father's son, tender and the only one in the sight of my mother, he also taught me, and said to me: 'Let your heart retain my words; keep my commands, and live. Get wisdom! Get understanding!'..." (Prov. 4:1-5).

One parent said, "We will not influence our children in making choices and decisions in matters of religion!" Another parent replied, "But why not? The ads will! The press will! The movies will! The neighbors will! The forces of sin will! The politicians will! We use our influence over flowers, vegetables, cattle, etc. Shall we ignore our own children? May God forgive us if we do!"

All parents have a God-given duty toward their children; and this responsibility begins with "dad." Paul said, "And you, fathers, do not provoke your children to wrath, but bring them up in the training and admonition of the Lord" (Eph. 6:4). Truly, friends, our nation needs more dads like that.
