"Filled with Joy!"

And the disciples were filled with joy and with the Holy Spirit. — Acts 13:52 NIV

Soup and sandwich. Love and marriage. Horse and carriage. These things go together according to a couple of old songs. But there are two things that go together far better than any of these. No, I am not talking about ham and eggs — or even Dr. Seuss' famous book Green Eggs and Ham.[©] I am talking about the abiding presence of the Holy Spirit within us and the deep rivers of lasting joy. When you find the Holy Spirit present in a person, you will also find joy. This joy is part of the irrepressible grace of God's presence within us through the Holy Spirit, bringing us assurance that our future is in him. The Spirit leads us and guides us in the present moment. The Spirit is at work conforming us to Jesus throughout our lives. The Spirit intercedes for us when we pray and fills us when we sing. The Spirit is the reminder of our future glory as we are molded with ever-increasing glory into the likeness of Jesus. Yes, the Spirit brings joy. Sometimes this joy is the giddiness of delight in experiencing God's presence. Sometimes it is comfort in the worst of disasters. Other times it is just that gentle assurance that we are not alone. But underneath it all, like the heartbeat in our chests, is the joy of the Spirit reminding us that we are God's children.

A Righteousness From God (Romans 1:16, 17)

The central thesis of Romans is found in 1:16, 17, and within it is the fundamental idea of God's righteousness. Righteousness is not only a characteristic of God, but it is also what He does. It is active – and not some static quality, like a halo around the heads of Jesus, angels, and holy people as sometimes depicted in medieval art. Additionally, God is faithful to His purposes and to His people despite their unfaithfulness. It is because of God's covenant faithfulness and His active righteousness in setting things right in our lives that we have hope.

The modern world has a lack of hope, and the resulting depression is self-treated by drugs, sex, and perverse immorality. Hopelessness breeds hopelessness. Man without God is an empty shell and, because of putting God out of his thoughts, is plunged into every kind of debauchery. When we read of atrocities, shootings in schools, drunken rages, and crimes by those in public office, this is the result of darkened minds and should not be a surprise to anyone. This is man without God, and the end is tragedy.

Paul's solution for sin was for man to find God, not only in nature, but also in the pages of the Scriptures, and to find redemption through Jesus. We have the key to turn around the lives of many people, and it is found in 1:16, 17. It is the duty of each local congregation to proclaim this hopeful message to the world. It is also the responsibility of each Christian to be part of the solution and not part of the problem. Which will you be?
