The Rewards of Worship

We worship because we desire to give God the honor and praise due Him. No one, however, does what is right without receiving benefits from it. What does the worshiper receive?

He receives the blessings of God. His Father bestows upon him favors that are in harmony with His will, grace, and wisdom. No one can praise God and not be made better in the process.

He receives the righteousness of God. He becomes like the One he worships. He is cleansed, molded, and made more usable by his worship.

He receives the approval of God. His living out the will of God brings the applause of heaven. To know that we have brought gladness to God’s heart is one of life’s greatest rewards.

We do not go to worship dominated by the question “What will I get out of this?” However, the sincere worshiper, as a kind of serendipity, is bathed in the glory of God as he praises Him. E. C.

WHAT A BOOK!

This book contains the mind of God, the state of man, the way of salvation, the doom of sinners, and the happiness of believers. Its doctrines are holy, its precepts are binding, its histories are true, and its decisions are immutable. Read it to be wise, believe it to be safe, and practice it to be holy.

It contains light to direct you, food to support you, and comfort to cheer you. It is the traveler's map, the pilgrim's staff, the pilot's compass, the soldier's sword, and the Christian's charter. Here paradise is restored, heaven opened, and the gates of hell disclosed. Christ is its grand subject, our good its design, and the glory of God its end. It should fill the memory, test the heart, and guide the feet. Read it slowly, frequently, prayerfully.

George Whitefield said, "God has condescended to become an author; and yet people will not read His writings. There are very few that ever gave this Book of God, the grand charter of salvation, one fair reading through."

From House to House Heart to Heart

Trust in the LORD with all your heart and lean not on your own understanding; in all your ways acknowledge him, and he will make your paths straight. — Proverbs 3:5-6

What do you use for your life's compass? No matter how insightful, wise, experienced, or knowledgeable we may be, only God can guide our steps properly. God asks us to trust him and his wisdom even when we can't immediately see the rationale behind it. He wants us to recognize his presence, guidance, and grace in all we do. As we trust and as we acknowledge his presence, we suddenly realize that our paths are a lot straighter and our destinations are a lot closer.
